WANDS: A wand allows a character to cast the wand's spell if that spell is on their spell list (even if they don't know that spell). Failing to cast the spell from the wand does not impact the ability to cast known spells. After a failed casting attempt with a wand, the wand stops working until you rest. On a critical failure, the wand permanently breaks and casters with mishap tables must roll a mishap.

WAND OF ILLUSION

* ILLUSION (Tier 3, Wizard), DC 10 to cast, Duration: Focus, Range: Far

You create a convincing visible and audible illusion that fills up to a near-sized cube in range.
The illusion cannot cause harm, but creatures who believe the illusion is real react to it as though it were.
A creature who inspects the illusion from afar must pass a Wisdom check vs. your last spellcasting check to perceive the false nature of the illusion.
Touching the illusion also reveals its false nature.
